

Listening to the Trees, Together: Indigenous Sustainability and Forestry Education

Ryan Hellenbrand, Ph.D Candidate
Nelson Institute for Environmental Studies
University of Wisconsin-Madison

This talk discusses German Scientific Forestry in contrast to forestry practices of the Menominee Nation of Wisconsin. Engaging with Menominee Forestry invites us to develop strategies for climate resilience and environmental justice that are conscientious of and responsive to the self-determination of Indigenous Nations.

Tuesday, March 25th, 2025
L.S. Dougherty Room 113
5:30 - 6:30pm

Sponsored by the DLLC Symposium 2025 & International Speaker Series

"Changing Word: Travels, Nations & Cultures"